

Exceptional Garden Roses

Although we are truly a small farm, and although our farm is relatively new, we have an ongoing concern for the welfare of our people and our environment.

Respect for the Individual

We respect all of our workers compensation, social security payments, social benefits, legal bonuses etc. We make a point of providing everybody with all the tools they may need to fulfill their obligations. But most of all we respect each individuals' dignity.

Respect for the Environment

We are currently in the process of becoming certified by Florverde and since our inception we follow many of the basic rules of caring our environment and our people.
